

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON DIVISION

BARBARA KAISER, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 2:12-cv-00887

ETHICON, INC., et al.,

Defendants.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER
(Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment)

Pending before the court are Motions for Summary Judgment [ECF No. 89, 114, and 126] filed by defendants Ethicon, Inc. and Johnson & Johnson (collectively, "Ethicon"). As set forth below, Ethicon's Motion [ECF No. 89] is DENIED and its Alternative Motion for Partial Summary Judgment ("Alternative Motion") [ECF No. 114] and Amended Motion for Partial Summary Judgment ("Amended Motion") [ECF No. 126] are GRANTED in part and DENIED in part.

I. Background

This action involves Indiana co-plaintiffs, Barbara and Anton Kaiser. On January 27, 2009, Ms. Kaiser was implanted with Prolift mesh, a product manufactured by Ethicon, at Munster Community Hospital in Munster, Indiana, by Dr. Gregory Bales. Am. Short Form Compl. [ECF No. 122] ¶¶ 1–12. The case resides in one of seven MDLs assigned to me by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation concerning the use of transvaginal surgical mesh to treat pelvic organ prolapse (“POP”) and stress urinary incontinence (“SUI”). In the seven MDLs, there are more than 60,000 cases currently pending, nearly 28,000 of which are in the Ethicon MDL, MDL 2327.

In an effort to efficiently and effectively manage this massive MDL, the court decided to conduct pretrial discovery and motions practice on an individualized basis so that once a case is trial-ready (that is, after the court has ruled on all summary judgment motions, among other things), it can then be promptly transferred or remanded to the appropriate district for trial. To this end, the court ordered the plaintiffs and defendants to submit a joint list of 200 of the oldest cases in the Ethicon MDL that name only Ethicon, Inc., Ethicon, LLC, and/or Johnson & Johnson. These cases became part of a “wave” of cases to be prepared for trial and, if necessary, remanded. See Pretrial Order No. 193, In re Ethicon, Inc. Pelvic Repair Sys. Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 2:12-md-002327, Aug. 19, 2015, available at <http://www.wvsc.uscourts.gov/MDL/ethicon/orders.html>. The plaintiffs’ case was selected as an “Ethicon Wave 1 case.”

II. Legal Standards

A. Summary Judgment

To obtain summary judgment, the moving party must show that there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a). In considering a motion for summary judgment, the court will not “weigh the evidence and determine the truth of the matter.” Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 249 (1986). Instead, the court will draw any permissible inference from the underlying facts in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party. Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587–88 (1986).

Although the court will view all underlying facts and inferences in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, the nonmoving party nonetheless must offer some “concrete evidence from which a reasonable juror could return a verdict” in his or her favor. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 256. Summary judgment is appropriate when the nonmoving party has the burden of proof on an essential element of his or her case and does not make, after adequate time for discovery, a showing sufficient to establish that element. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322–23 (1986). The nonmoving party must satisfy this burden of proof by offering more than a mere “scintilla of evidence” in support of his or her position. Anderson, 477 U.S. at 252. Likewise, conclusory allegations or unsupported speculation, without more, are insufficient to preclude the granting of a summary judgment motion. See Dash v. Mayweather, 731 F.3d 303, 311 (4th Cir. 2013); Stone v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co., 105 F.3d 188, 191 (4th Cir. 1997).

B. Choice of Law

If a plaintiff files her claim directly into the MDL in the Southern District of West Virginia, as the Kaisers did in this case, the court consults the choice-of-law rules of the state where the plaintiff was implanted with the product. See Sanchez v.

Boston Scientific Corp., 2:12-cv-05762, 2014 WL 202787, at *4 (S.D. W. Va. Jan. 17, 2014) (“For cases that originate elsewhere and are directly filed into the MDL, the court will follow the better-reasoned authority that applies the choice-of-law rules of the originating jurisdiction, which in our case is the state in which the plaintiff was implanted with the product.”). Ms. Kaiser underwent the Prolift implantation surgery in Indiana. Thus, the choice-of-law principles of Indiana guide the court’s choice-of-law analysis.

The parties agree, as does the court, that these principles compel application of Indiana substantive law to the plaintiffs’ claims. Indiana applies a modified lex loci delecti test: the substantive law of the place where the tort occurred controls the case unless the location of the tort is an insignificant contact. Simon v. United States, 805 N.E.2d 798, 805 (Ind. 2004). Ms. Kaiser is a resident of Indiana, and she underwent the Prolift implantation surgery in Indiana. Indiana is thus not an insignificant contact. Indiana has a strong interest in resolving tort actions brought by one of its citizens for injuries arising from conduct alleged to have occurred within its territorial jurisdiction. Thus, I will apply Indiana substantive law to this case.

III. Analysis

Ethicon argues in its Motion [ECF No. 89] it is entitled to summary judgment because the plaintiffs’ claims are untimely under the relevant two-year statute of limitations. The Kaisers have presented evidence demonstrating a genuine dispute of material fact regarding whether the claims were brought within the statutory period. Accordingly, Ethicon's Motion for Summary Judgment [ECF No. 89] is DENIED.

In its Alternative Motion [ECF No. 114] and Amended Motion [ECF No. 126], Ethicon argues that the plaintiffs' claims are subsumed by the Indiana Products Liability Act ("IPLA") and are without evidentiary or legal support.

A. Conceded Claims

The plaintiffs concede the following claims: negligent misrepresentation (IX) and violation of consumer protection laws (XIII). Accordingly, Ethicon's Motion regarding those claims is GRANTED.

B. Effect of the Indiana Products Liability Act

As the law requires, and as both parties agree, IPLA requires all of the plaintiffs' causes of action to be consolidated into one claim for Ms. Kaiser's alleged personal injuries, "regardless of the substantive legal theory or theories upon which the action is brought." See Ind. Code § 34-20-1-1. The Supreme Court of Indiana has held that "[IPLA] govern[s] all product liability actions, whether the theory of liability is negligence or strict liability in tort." Stegemoller v. ACandS, Inc., 767 N.E.2d 974, 975 (Ind. 2002) (quoting Dague v. Piper Aircraft Corp., 418 N.E.2d 207, 212 (Ind. 1981)). Under IPLA, a plaintiff must show a product is defective and unreasonably dangerous through one of three theories: design defect, manufacturing defect, or failure to warn. First Nat'l. Bank & Trust Corp. v. Am. Eurocopter Corp., 378 F.3d 682 (7th Cir. 2004) (applying Indiana law).

Accordingly, the following claims are merged into IPLA: Count I–VIII, X–XII and XIV. Ethicon’s Motions are GRANTED in that the following counts are subsumed into IPLA: (I) negligence, (II) strict liability – manufacturing defect, (III) strict liability – failure to warn, (IV) strict liability – defective product, (V) strict liability – design defect, (VI) common law fraud, (VII) fraudulent concealment, (VIII) constructive fraud, (X) negligent infliction of emotional distress, (XI) breach of express warranty, (XII) breach of implied warranty, and (XIV) gross negligence.

C. All Remaining Claims

The court FINDS that genuine disputes of material fact exist regarding the plaintiffs’ remaining claims challenged by Ethicon. Accordingly, Ethicon’s Motions as to all remaining claims are DENIED.

IV. Conclusion

For the reasons discussed above, it is ORDERED that Ethicon’s Motion for Summary Judgment [ECF No. 89] is DENIED. Ethicon’s Alternative Motion [ECF No. 114] and Amended Motion [ECF No. 126] are GRANTED in part and DENIED in part. Ethicon’s Motions are GRANTED with regard to the following claims: (I) negligence, (II) strict liability – manufacturing defect, (III) strict liability – failure to warn, (IV) strict liability – defective product, (V) strict liability – design defect, (VI) common law fraud, (VII) fraudulent concealment, (VIII) constructive fraud, (IX) negligent misrepresentation, (X) negligent infliction of emotional distress, (XI) breach of express warranty, (XII) breach of implied warranty, (XIII) violation of consumer protection laws, and (XIV) gross negligence. Ethicon's Motions are DENIED in all other respects, including as to IPLA and timeliness under the statute of limitations.

The Court DIRECTS the Clerk to send a copy of this Order to counsel of record and any unrepresented party.
